STATE STREETS BRIDGE.

THE WORK OF RECONSTRUCTION AT A STANDSTILL.

Grand Jury Finds Fault with the Delay in Completing the Structure.

Board of Supervisors Will Not Allow the West Approach to Be Closed.

Reconstruction of the city's bridges on State street is taking the slowest method of procuring results. Instead of pushing the work to an early completion, the bridge department seems to be content to let it drag along indefinitely. The bridge was promised early in the spring, but from present indications it will be several months before it is completed. The chief cause of complaint is that the work is not being pushed at all, and that for days at a time not a workman can be seen on the premises. Considering the work is being supported, partly at the cost of the taxpayers, and unnecessarily to the discomfort of the public, especially the property-owning public in the vicinity of the bridge, it is time that the bridge should be.

An attempt was made yesterday to have the matter of the delay put on record, but the Board of Supervisors, in spite of the Grand Jury report, refused to take any action. The Board of Supervisors, however, will not allow the bridge to be closed to traffic, and will compel the bridge department to keep the west approach open. The Grand Jury, in its report, says:

> We find that the bridge on State street, over the Los Angeles River, is in a dangerous condition, and that the work of reconstruction is being carried on in a manner that is unnecessarily slow, and that the bridge should be completed with all possible dispatch.

In Modern Commercial Communication, and Never Out to Be a Harmless Inventive Invention—But a Bomb, but a Stunning in Disguise—A Full Description of the Fuel Cartridge, on the New Device to Unload—Cooking and Heating at One Cost. For Home—Just the Thing for the Heated Term.

The Fuel Cartridge.

THE INDESTRUCTIBLE FUEL CARTRIDGE

Enables the Burning of Ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil in any Cook Stove, Parlor Stove, or Open Grate

WITH ABSOLUTE SAFETY!

THE INDESTRUCTIBLE FUEL CARTRIDGE

In a cylinder of Wrought Iron Wire and Cast Iron Rind with non-combustible and indestructible absorbents. A pint of oil is absorbed in 3 minutes. The Cartridge in process, looks exactly opposite. It is so simple that a child can use it. The Indestructible Fuel Cartridge lasts forever, and can be returned as often as desired, placed in the Stove or Grate, it will burn a year or more hours a week, or a month or one week. Each Cartridge is guaranteed for five years. It consumes all coal and wood entirely; always ready, requiring no starting and leaving no ashes. THIS CARTRIDGE AND ITS CAN WILL BE FURNISHED ANYWHERE ON RECEIPT OF $1.50.

THE CARTRIDGE

Is exactly the size of the invisible illustration.

ONE PINT OF ORDINARY KEROSENE BURNS AN HOUR, HALF-PINT HALF AN HOUR, A QUARTER PINT A QUARTER OF AN HOUR. The fire can be put out any time, thus avoiding unnecessary heat in hot weather.

IT IS USED AS SHOWN IN THIS CUT.

A $15.00 OIL STOVE WILL NOT DO ONE-TENTH THE WORK AND COSTS TEN TIMES THE PRICE.

THE CAN

When the Cartridge is in it holds just enough oil to saturate it.

DIRECTIONS.
Fill this can (with cartridge in) with ordinary kerosene oil. It will be absorbed in three minutes. Lift cartridge out of can with an ordinary stove-poker and place it on a bit of paper in stove. Light the paper and the cartridge will light slowly. Close all front draughts and regulate burning by damper in pipe. Each filling absorbs one pint and burns about an hour. It is impossible to explode the cartridge, and, being indestructible, it lasts forever.

STUDY OF MEN AND WOMEN

THE MENTAL DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE TWO SEXES.

Woman's Comparative Absence of Originality—Her Subjection Law With, Deep, and Thorough Glue Marks—Special Fields, However, in Which She Seems Superior—The Future in Relation and the Position—Her Development by Man—Woman's Future.

George J. Romanes in Popular Science Monthly.

In his "Descent of Man" Mr. Darwin has shown at length that minor mental peculiarities among men are distributed according to the law that equality may be fairly assumed.

But it is to original work as generally observed that the discovery is most conspicuous. For it is a matter of common experience that in an overwhelming majority of cases women have to be taught by men in all departments of cognitive thought, and even to learn at an approximately mature age. It is possible, indeed, that in the matter of learning and emulating they may be in advance of men; but as a general rule, the boy is father to the girl in the matter of originality. Even when the girl is the elder of the two, and therefore has also a greater number of years' experience of the world, it is rare to find her displaying any originality of mind. For it is a matter of common observation that in an overwhelming majority of cases women have to be taught by men in all departments of cognitive thought, and even to learn at an approximately mature age. It is possible, indeed, that in the matter of learning and emulating they may be in advance of men; but as a general rule, the boy is father to the girl in the matter of originality. Even when the girl is the elder of the two, and therefore has also a greater number of years' experience of the world, it is rare to find her displaying any originality of mind.

Lastly, with respect to judgment, I think there can be no real question that the female sex, especially considered, before the birth, is in much more apt to take prudential views of circumstances, and to act accordingly, than is the male. In fact, the tendency to act impulsively, and also to be guided by first impressions, is, as I think, a well-known feature of the mind of the child, and which I assume.

In the matter of comparative tests of originality of thought, and this facile assumption on the one hand to treat of men as though they were all women, and on the other hand to treat of women as though they were all men, is the source of much error in the discussion of the question. Thus, for example, it is a common assumption that a general inferiority as regards originality—that which within the limits of each species has made different psychologically from the female, in the animal kingdom as a whole the males which of being classified, as it were, in one psychological species and the females in another. On this, of course, I do not deny that there is certainly a general psychological difference between the two sexes of the same species than there is between the same sexes of different species. I deny only that the proximate fact that cross other psychologically are more or less similar than are differences among

It is probably due to a recognition of this fact that from the very earliest stages of culture mankind has been accustomed to treat male and female characters as well as general differences of the same kind. Whether it be in the games of boys, or the plays, pastimes, or duties of men, or in the pursuits and occupations of women, the distinction of sex has universally been recognized. Even among savages, who pay little attention to the principle of division of labor, we find that the occupations of the two sexes are distinguished from each other. And in civilized communities, where the principle of division of labor is carried to its highest pitch, we find that the distinction of sex is recognized in the most minute details of life. Thus, for example, in the matter of dress, the distinction between male and female costume is carried to the most minute degree. Even in the matter of the hair, which is the most variable of all the characters of the body, we find that the distinction of sex is recognized in the most minute details of life. Thus, for example, in the matter of dress, the distinction between male and female costume is carried to the most minute degree.

If with such broadly conspicuous phenomena as are the mental differences of the sexes before us we take the trouble of carefully analyzing the nature and constitution of mental faculties as displayed in the two sexes, we shall find that the difference between the sexes is not merely one of degree, but that it is one of kind. For example, it is a well-known fact that women are more emotional than men, and therefore it is a natural inference that they are more impressionable. But this is not the case. Women are not more impressionable than men, but they are more emotional. They are more easily moved by the sufferings of others, and more ready to help them. But this is not because they are more impressionable than men, but because they are more emotional. They are more easily moved by the sufferings of others, and more ready to help them.

Again, in regard to judgment, I think there can be no real question that the female sex, especially considered, before the birth, is in much more apt to take prudential views of circumstances, and to act accordingly, than is the male. Women are not more impressionable than men, but they are more emotional. They are more easily moved by the sufferings of others, and more ready to help them. But this is not because they are more impressionable than men, but because they are more emotional. They are more easily moved by the sufferings of others, and more ready to help them.

Again, in regard to judgment, I think there can be no real question that the female sex, especially considered, before the birth, is in much more apt to take prudential views of circumstances, and to act accordingly, than is the male. In fact, the tendency to act impulsively, and also to be guided by first impressions, is, as I think, a well-known feature of the mind of the child, and which I assume.

TRIAL OF LORENZ SAYS.

The Jury Has All the Evidence and We Hear Arguments Tomorrow.

In the Gray murder trial in the criminal court yesterday the last witness was examined and counsel commenced to argue the case. Hugo Gray, a brother of the prisoner, was the first witness called. He came from Detroit to testify in Chicago, was a carpenter, and lived in Englewood. There he met his brother a little before noon on the day of the murder. He was going to the office of Dr. Lorenz, and his brother went with him. They walked together to the door of the office, and then the witness went to the Dearborn station, where he took a train for Englewood. He did not see his brother after that.

Frank Schwartz, the last witness for the defense, testified that he lived at 1 Dearborn street, and was employed in the office of Dr. Lorenz. He knew the prisoner, and had seen him in the office. He had been there on the day of the murder, and had seen the prisoner there. He had also seen the prisoner on the day of the murder, and had seen the prisoner there. He had also seen the prisoner on the day of the murder, and had seen the prisoner there.

Meeting of St. Matthew's German Lutheran Church.

St. Matthew's German Lutheran Church, on the corner of Hoyne avenue and Twenty-third street, was turned yesterday afternoon into a den for cast iron being placed on the building, and the workmen in going about the morning left their charred tarpaulin covering in the gutter to keep the spattering rain off the cast iron. It is estimated that one of these tarpaulins would protect and keep a load of cast iron dry. When the rain descended in torrents about noon the tarpaulin covering the cornice of the new building was found to be missing, and the cornice was soaked with water. The damage will not be very great, however, as the cornice is of cast iron.

Cutting Teeth to Get Them Out.

Mrs. Ida Hall, who lives at No. 1,111 Twenty-second street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery preferred against her by Mrs. Mary Hall, who lives at No. 1,113 Twenty-second street. The complainant alleges that the defendant struck her on the head with a hammer, and that she was compelled to have her head dressed at the Cook County Hospital. The defendant says that the complainant struck her first, and that she struck in self-defense. They cordially detest each other, and have been engaged in a fight almost every day for the last two weeks. Mrs. Hall, the defendant, is the mother of seven children, and Mrs. Hall, the complainant, is the mother of eight children. The children of both families are of tender years, and they have been engaged in the fight with their mothers. They cordially detest each other, and have been engaged in a fight almost every day for the last two weeks. Mrs. Hall, the defendant, is the mother of seven children, and Mrs. Hall, the complainant, is the mother of eight children. The children of both families are of tender years, and they have been engaged in the fight with their mothers.

Saloon Locked Up Again.

Due to the previous fight, Charles Hall had another warrant served on "Black Jack" Carson yesterday. The charge was the same as on the Friday selling liquor without a license. The warrant was given to Detective Sergeant Shea, who had arrested the prisoner, who had previously got around one of the police squads and had been released under the writ of habeas corpus. Carson was arrested and locked up in the Harrison street station, but was released on bail. The hearing of the case will be held in Judge Waterman's court this morning.

OUR REPORTER IN SEARCH OF A NEWS ITEM.

He Runs Across a Man with an Interesting Story to Tell.

A reporter was recently treated to a rough section of Sparta, who had an exciting spell several in Chicago and who was said to be a prominent citizen of Sparta in search of this paper. A. D. Smith was the lucky fellow's name and Clark Street was the road. Smith up to last Wednesday evening, when he met with the proper treat in Sparta, Randolph County, Ill. Mr. Smith, who is a farmer by occupation, was found in the midst of the preparations for the evening, and managed to find time enough to complete the regular from the following interview:

A. D. SMITH.

"Being interested in a new compound in medicine, I have been induced to write you. I have been troubled with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism for the last two years. I have had the best medical attendance in Sparta, but got no relief. I have been under the treatment of Dr. J. Cresap McCoy and Dr. Henry G. Wildman, of Chicago, for about two months, and am pleased to say that I am entirely cured. I have gained in flesh and strength, and feel like a new man. I have also been troubled with catarrh, and they have cured me of that. I cannot say too much in favor of these gentlemen, and would advise all who are afflicted to consult them. Yours truly, A. D. W. J. McGARIGLE ESCAPES.

[SUPPOSED RUSSIAN SPIES ARE AT WORK AMONG STRIKERS.]

Taking advantage of a visit to the House of Correction by Judge Gary, Mr. McGarigle, the notorious Democratic boodler and Republican candidate for the Twenty-fifth ward, escaped from the House of Correction this morning.

W. J. McGarigle, the convicted boodler, has escaped.

Sheriff Gilsen's detectives and the entire police force of the city are trying to find him. Telegrams have been sent all over the country in the hope of locating him, and the detectives have efforts to locate him in every spot he is in the county of Cook County—people are particularly anxious to locate and arrest him.

[illegible] last evening Sheriff Gilsen went to the County Jail in his buggy, as is his custom. Upon dismounting in the building, he noticed a fire [illegible] with Mr. Gilsen. The fire caused the [illegible] of dire work. Their destination was McGarigle's house on Dore street, Lake View. Upon arriving there Sheriff Gilsen and the [illegible] entered the house. McGarigle greeted his wife and children, but all [illegible] the front room. In a few moments McGarigle went up-stairs to the [illegible] Sheriff Gilsen remaining downstairs. A CRISIS BOUND TO COME.

THE FATE OF SALISBURY'S CABINET ALMOST A QUESTION OF TIME.

The President Declares in Lord Hartington's Support—Determination to Obtain—Two Parties Established—Why the Land Bill May Prove of Benefit to Tenants—Home Affairs Parliament—Gen. Schuyler's Visit to Glasgow.

LONDON, July 26.—[New York Sun and Herald Cable.]—The complete acceptance of Lord Salisbury to the demands of the Liberals was followed with regret by the Land Bill has created a Cabinet crisis, but the crisis is likely to come before long. The opposition of the Ministry has been postponed by this concession until both the Conservatives and the Liberals see this clearly. The discussion in the Commons would have compelled the resignation of the Ministry if it were not for the Land Bill. Lord Salisbury's threat of a dissolution of Parliament if he is not supported by the colleagues of his position. During the week the Premier prolonged the negotiations with Lord Hartington in which he practically, acting on the order to induce him to accept the Cabinet. He even went so far as to promise to the Liberal leader as to offer to accept him as Chancellor of the Exchequer, to succeed Lord Hartington to assume to the Premiership, Lord Hartington to assume to the Premiership, Lord Hartington to assume to the Premiership,

NEW SUIT AGAINST HILTON

ATTEMPT TO GET STOLEN DIAMONDS AND FUR AT ANOTHER TRIAL.

The Man that the Transfer of the Fair Grounds Be Set Aside—Motion Also Favorable to Hilton's Reminiscences—Negotiations Looking to a Settlement of the Cable War—Arbitrators Selected to Submit Designs for the Court House.

New York, July 23.—(Special.)—The Hilton divorce case and attempt at blackmail by Mrs. Hilton appears to be interminable. The latest development appears within begun in the Supreme Court Chambers, Brooklyn, by Francis Hall Bolton, who alleges that the wife of Lawyer Ash Hall action of garnishee of notes to a suit to set aside deed of property to the said claims to the will of Mrs. Cornelia B. Bostwick. Mr. Bolton's influence in the case arises under that document which gives to a man acting as executor.

Mr. Bolton's motion is to have Mr. J. Lawrence Smith, the new legal counsel and guardian for Mrs. Hilton. The purpose of this is to prevent a proceeding and to set aside the transfer of the city-avenue business made by Mrs. Bostwick to Mrs. H. T. Hilton. Mr. Bolton's claim is based on the fact that Mrs. Hilton is incompetent, and that the transfer was made under the influence of Mr. Hilton upon the mind of his wife. This latter does not appear in the papers, which, without this, are in the form of a petition to compel possession of certain notes, which Mr. Bolton says the transfer of the property to Mrs. Hilton upon the mind of Mrs. Bostwick, and that the notes shall be turned over to the executors of the estate of Mrs. Bostwick. The motion was made

MIDSUMMER DULLNESS.

AS IS TAKING HOLD OF MR. PALMER'S THEATER OF LATE.

"The Gondoliers" Will Entertain at Mr. Abbey's—Irene Vanbrugh Coming?—Is the Star at This House for This Week?—At the Other Theaters—The Opera Season—Irving's Musical Farce—A Good Night for the Exposition Building.

The weekly change of bill at Mr. A. M. Palmer's exhibit at McVicker's is at last across the boundary of midsummer dullness to-morrow night. "The Gondoliers," which would surely be considered a novelty, as it was done by the most complete last season, was better patronized than either of the new pieces that preceded it. It is a bright and pleasant comedy, preserving much of the spirit of the French play from which it is taken, indeed, however, retaining the literary tone of W. Palmer's endeavors. The dining tableau, when servants twirl a revolving apparatus by the negro, but all the entertainment-seekers to which exception might be taken has the saving grace of good names. It is no point then to mark the dignity of a soldier or statesman's accents.

The play which Mr. Palmer will offer next week is a farce-comedy from the pen of Henry Arthur Jones, a playwright who has contributed two pieces to the repertoire of "The Silver King." He is exceedingly industrious, and has lately turned out in quick succession three farces—"A Bunch of Keys," "Dandy Dick," and "Whitewashing Julia Drayton," the last-mentioned being the good work with which he brought out for the first time Beerbohm Tree. It is understood that his most successful piece of "Clerkenwell" This is the case.

Irene Vanbrugh, who is to be seen in "Dandy Dick," is a young English actress who has been playing in London for the last two years, and who has made a distinct success. She is a daughter of Mr. Vanbrugh, the manager of the Haymarket Theater, London, and a sister of Violet Vanbrugh, who is also on the stage. She is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, and made her first appearance on the stage in 1889. She is said to be a very pretty woman, and to have a charming personality. Whether she will be seen in Chicago this season is not known.

Miss Irene Vanbrugh is not to be confused with Miss Violet Vanbrugh, who is also a daughter of Mr. Vanbrugh, and Detroit, Mich., July 23.—[Special.]—The Detroits and Chicagos broke last night and they gave anything but a ballplaying exhibition. The pastimers of Mr. Bancroft, a change from yesterday, every thing as being everything but base as baseball. Anson to the help on the strength of the Chicago home form with a second place. Two of the last five games played here by Bob Ferguson's Detroits, three to Washington, and the one here today—Detroit has four out—games and four out the games with Chicago. The most great disgust, and the trouble of the Chicago, the most serious to the young men of Detroit's team is a deeply played and interesting game. In four of the seven innings of the home team are now responsible for only eight straight scored out on the game. Anson and his men have done not to quite so single, and if ever men were not quite up to a game like Chicago were the valley. Three men the best on bring or bring. Seven men of Hamilton has made the contest and at most every to bring, the eight men scored, seven of them on hits, the other on a base on balls. Base Ball Notes.

Detroit, though she will receive the ball, is clearly pressed by Chicago. She has won two and lost two here. Detroit did not win a game last week, being beaten by Philadelphia, Washington and Chicago. Chicago suffered two defeats at the hands of Boston and won one from them. Boston and Chicago are now in the number of games won, and Chicago has not won more behind, is quite a little pennant fight between these two clubs. Detroit and Chicago are now playing at the close of the week on last week.

Fuller and Williamson are with the old club once more. Williamson returned to his old position at second base, and Fuller will play the outfield regularly again.

The game yesterday was an exhibition of good work on the part of both pitchers, Clarkson and Conway. Clarkson was in the box for Chicago, and Conway for Detroit. Washington vs. Philadelphia.

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—The Washington club of the Philadelphia played here this afternoon before 1,000 people. The game was a pitcher's game, and the visitors had the best of it. Washington scored in the first inning on a base on balls, a sacrifice and a single by Hoy. Philadelphia scored in the second inning on a base on balls, a single by Hoy, and a single by Hoy. Philadelphia scored in the third inning on a base on balls, a single by Hoy, and a single by Hoy. Philadelphia scored in the fourth inning on a base on balls, a single by Hoy, and a single by Hoy. Philadelphia scored in the fifth inning on a base on balls, a single by Hoy, and a single by Hoy. Philadelphia scored in the sixth inning on a base on balls, a single by Hoy, and a single by Hoy. Philadelphia scored in the seventh inning on a base on balls, a single by Hoy, and a single by Hoy. Philadelphia scored in the eighth inning on a base on balls, a single by Hoy, and a single by Hoy. Philadelphia scored in the ninth inning on a base on balls, a single by Hoy, and a single by Hoy.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 23.—[Special.]—The Indianapolis club defeated the Pittsburgs this afternoon in a game that was full of interest from start to finish. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.	H.	E.

MEN'S AND YOUTHS' FINE ALL-WOOL SUIT SALE

Ever inaugurated in any Clothing House in the United States will be commenced Tomorrow (Monday), at 8 a. m., at THE HUB.

Regular $18 and $20 Suits and several broken lines of our finest Suits that were sold earlier in the season at $25 and $30 each; all cold, Spoke and Frocks, 1,000 Suits, placed together in the rear of our Suit Department and marked, choice of any and all of them, only $10.

Although we expect to lose money on this Great Sacrifice Sale, we believe in clearing out all of our season's goods, regardless of cost or value. THE HUB'S patrons get the benefit of our wise business methods, and those who attend this sale will secure a fine Suit of Clothes at a more economical price.

As we will merely have a given number of garments for this Special Sale, those who come first will have the best choice of styles. While it is THE HUB'S invariable rule to alter all garments free of charge, on these Suits we shall be compelled to add the costs of all alterations desired.

ITALIANS OF THE PATCH.

[illegible]

Who They Are and What They Are Doing Here—Italians Who Live in Squalor and Die, but Go to Heaven—Their Industry and Ability to Work—How They Have Reached the Lick from the Streets—The Padre Church.

The most unsafe character in the shooting and gouging line of laborers, from time to time, occurs but with being struck by the New York Italian laborers no longer produces any shocks. The immigrants and the newly arrived who could pick up a shovel and fight for days or longer "broke the contract." One does not see "Dago" shovel-brandishers nowadays, nor does he see the knife-using Italian of every sort, for the best methods of fighting have been learned by the Italians themselves, and in this place way to settle a quarrel, completely with fists. Italians who always and always settle through the hitting of a moment that with instant quickness drooping to rest during the long hours, when all men, in the hot days for more fighting muscles and willingness for him to waste off work by [illegible] Italianity they shovel, pick, or hod carry for any master to be, but quickly resent the unfriendly action to meet and get home. But a very successful way of the Italians, for he knows exactly a lot of the language around him, and he will explain and act out for the [illegible] and gestures of Anglo-Saxon speech. Second to his own countrymen, or rather to his own nationality, or, if one follows [illegible] to his home, to which, when work is [illegible] he straightest line possible, he will feel himself most accountable and most comfortable. The [illegible] of the city where this class of Italians principally live are on the [illegible] of Clark street, between Twelfth and Harrison, and the Sherman Patch in the [illegible] corner of Fourteenth street and Wabash avenue. These are several small [illegible] in the West and South Divisions, but they are scattered widely in the [illegible] and are not adjacent enough to the Italians to [illegible] The Italians who live in [illegible] are those who have been here for years, and have come into relations [illegible] that time, are of no [illegible] class. These are those who [illegible] for the very first steps upward, and are [illegible] of the Italians in the city. Most of them [illegible] in the average trades, but the most of them [illegible] pretty well.

Notwithstanding their squalid life, and natural apathy, these people are particularly [illegible] and their earnings [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible] of the Italian Government in this country. FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

THE DRAWING OF THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION TO WESTERN TRACK.

The Second Round and Race Close of the Local Athletic Meet Where the Most Interesting Number of Points During the Season Competition Being Made at the Grounds—the Club of William Roberts, the Professional of the Outer Park.

During the last week the Chicago Athletic Association has challenged all amateur athletic clubs in the West to a team race of five miles, five men to a team, competitors to start according to the order of finish—one, two, three, etc. In other words, if the members of one team should come in one, two, three, four, and five a total of fifteen points would have been made, while those coming in six, seven, eight, nine, and ten would have made forty. The length of the event will be a challenge cup emblematic of the amateur five-mile championship of the West.

Saturday, July 9, the second round and race-point round of the association will be held, the start to be made from the Washington Park club-house at 4 o'clock p. m. In a "point race" the "racers" are provided with a quantity of white paper and to points shall race by four dollars to win. In this event they will be given about ten seconds start, when they may go through the route and across the country, dropping the slips of paper as they run, making a "scent" to be followed by the "hounds." About ten miles will be gone over, the finish being at the place of starting. The chase is to be about the usual 4 mile. The hounds are kept together and at a pace equivalent to the slower members of the pack. Half a mile from home a chance is given to the speedy ones to race to...

THE CHAMPIONSHIP MEDAL.

...for each win, two for second place, and one for third. The points at which points shall count are limited to such as are given to representatives of clubs which have entered for the championship, but no points will be charged against any club.

Mr. William Ridgely, the honorary and treasurer of the Chicago Amateur Athletic Association, writes favorably of what he considers progress in bringing the association up to a high standard by admitting of athletes to meet. "I have said here what the association can do," he says, "the principal work for next year will be to get the clubs to meet each other in contests. The principal thing is to get the clubs to meet each other in contests. The principal thing is to get the clubs to meet each other in contests. The principal thing is
